

Introduction

Discover the ancient art form of Tea Dragon caretaking within this enchanting world of friendship and fantasy. Create a bond between yourself and your Tea Dragon that grows as you progress through the seasons, creating memories to share forever.

Each player's deck represents their own Tea Dragon. From turn to turn, players will choose to draw a card, triggering effects and strengthening their position, or buy a card, improving their deck or scoring points.

The game takes place over four seasons, starting in spring and ending in winter. At the end of winter, the player who has the most points is the winner.

COMPONENTS

- 4 Player Aid cards
- 4 Tea Dragon cards
- 1 Mentors card
- 24 Memory cards (6 cards each for spring, fall, winter, and summer)
- 28 Market cards
- 48 Starter cards (12 cards each in 4 decks)
- 1 Rulebook
- 1 Comic Quick-Start Comic Guide

Setup

1. Take Dragon Cards and Starter Decks. Each player takes a Tea Dragon card and places it in their hold. Then, each player takes the matching Starter deck and shuffles it. Return all unused Tea Dragons and Starter decks to the box.

Starter Card

In this game, players do not have hands of cards. Instead, each player keeps their cards face up on the table in their hold next to their deck.

2. Prepare Market Tableau. Shuffle the Market deck, draw four cards, and place them in the center of the table to form the Market tableau.
3. Shuffle Memory Decks. Separate the Memory deck into its four seasons, shown by the card tops of different colors, and shuffle each season.
4. Remove Memory Cards. Remove Memory cards from each season depending on the number of players, and return them to the box without looking at them.
 - Two players: Return 3 Memory cards from each season to the box.
 - Three players: Return 2 Memory cards from each season to the box.
 - Four players: Return 1 Memory card from each season to the box.

Memory Cards: use in this order

Summer

Autumn

Winter

5. Prepare Memory Tableau. Flip all Memory cards in the spring season face up to make the Memory tableau. Set aside the Memory cards of the other seasons, to be used later in the game.

For a more strategic game, players may reveal the winter Memory cards after this step. This will allow the players to plan more for the endgame scoring cards.

6. Choose First Player. The player teaching the game or the oldest player will take the first turn. Give the Mentors card to the player to their right.

Then, begin play, starting with the first player.

The Cards

Most cards in The Tea Dragon Society Card Game share a few common parts.

Growth

- The growth you gain by discarding the card from your hold.

- The cost in growth you must spend to buy the card. (Starter cards, marked with st, have no cost.)

Cost

Effect

- The effect of drawing this card or drawing another card while this card is in your hold.

- The points you score by having this card at the end of the game.

Points

You'll find a detailed description of the cards in the Card Glossary in the back.

How to Play

On your turn, you can choose to do one of three actions:

- Draw a card
- Buy a Market OR Memory card

Once you finish your action, your turn ends, and the player to your left begins their turn.

Drawing a Card

Draw a card from your deck, and add the card to your hold. If your deck is empty, shuffle your discard pile to make a new deck.

A card may have an effect that triggers when it is drawn or when another card is drawn. The effect of a card can only be triggered once per turn.

Buying a Market Card

To buy a Market card, you must discard cards from your hold whose combined growth equals or exceeds the growth cost of the card you want to take.

You don't get change for discarding more growth than you spend, and you don't keep excess growth from turn to turn.

When you take a card from the Market tableau, add it to your hold. Then, draw a new Market card to replace the empty space in the Market tableau. (If the Market deck is empty, reshuffle the Market discard pile to make a new Market deck.)

Two Market cards, Brick and Fickle Dragons, have effects that trigger when the card is revealed on the Market tableau.

Buying a Memory Card

To buy a Memory card, you must discard cards just the same as when buying a Market card.

When you buy a Memory card, place it in your discard pile, and then shuffle your discard pile and deck together to make a new deck.

Then, if only one card remains in the Memory tableau, the seasons change:

1. Discard the remaining Memory card.
2. Flip up all of the Memory cards in the next season to make a new Memory tableau.
3. Discard all cards in the Market tableau, and draw four new cards for the Market tableau.

Game End

The game ends when only one Memory card remains in the winter season.

Players collect all cards in their deck, discard pile and hold, and tally up the points on all these cards. The player with the most points wins.

It is the end of the game, and Chamomile is counting up her score. She has four Memory cards: Farmers Market, Picnic, Hungry Dogs, and Tea Ceremony. The first three cards score her 2, 3, and 6 points, and Tea Ceremony scores her 1 point plus 1 point for each card she has, except for her Starter cards. She has 4 Memory cards and 5 Market cards, so it scores her another 9 points. Added up, she's got 21 points. Then she scores her Market cards. Her Necklace scores 2 points, and her Iron Teapot scores 1 point for each Memory card, scoring her 4 points. The rest of her Market cards score no points. Adding everything together, she's got a total of 27 points!

The game designers would like to thank:

From Tyler: My sister Tamara who gave me the very best comics growing up and remains a fine example of how to grow up.
From Steve: My amazing wife Amy who makes it possible for me to have the time to work on fantastic projects making games. My daughter Kaitlin who has been the best prototyping assistant and playtester (I will miss her as she begins her own adult life). The most reliable weekly gaming group I've ever had (Brian Brokaw, Brent Edington, Mark Salisbury).
We'd both like to thank all the playtesters and particularly the regular crew that attends Fresh Games at Rainy Day Games (David Leppink, Dale Smith, Dawson Cowals, Ben Eisner, Tim Eisner, Mike Wight, John Garren, Taran Kratz, Jason Bostick, Tony Miller, Shawn Hescoco, and others).
Finally, the team at Oni Press and the wonderful Katie O'Neill for allowing us to play in her world!

Renegade Game Studios would like to thank everyone at Oni Press and especially Katie O'Neill for allowing us to be a part of this wonderful world she's created.
